

BLOCKCHAIN TECHNOLOGY WORKSHOPS AND CONFERENCES

Laying the Foundation for Blockchain Technology Adoption and Applications

Interest in blockchain has transcended the financial services sector to utility, transportation, business and government agencies.

Gone are the days of businesses just deliberating on the potentials of the blockchain technology.

Organisations today are designing and implementing live blockchain applications in banking, equity trading, real estate, facility management, healthcare, supply change management, energy supply and land registry to name a few.

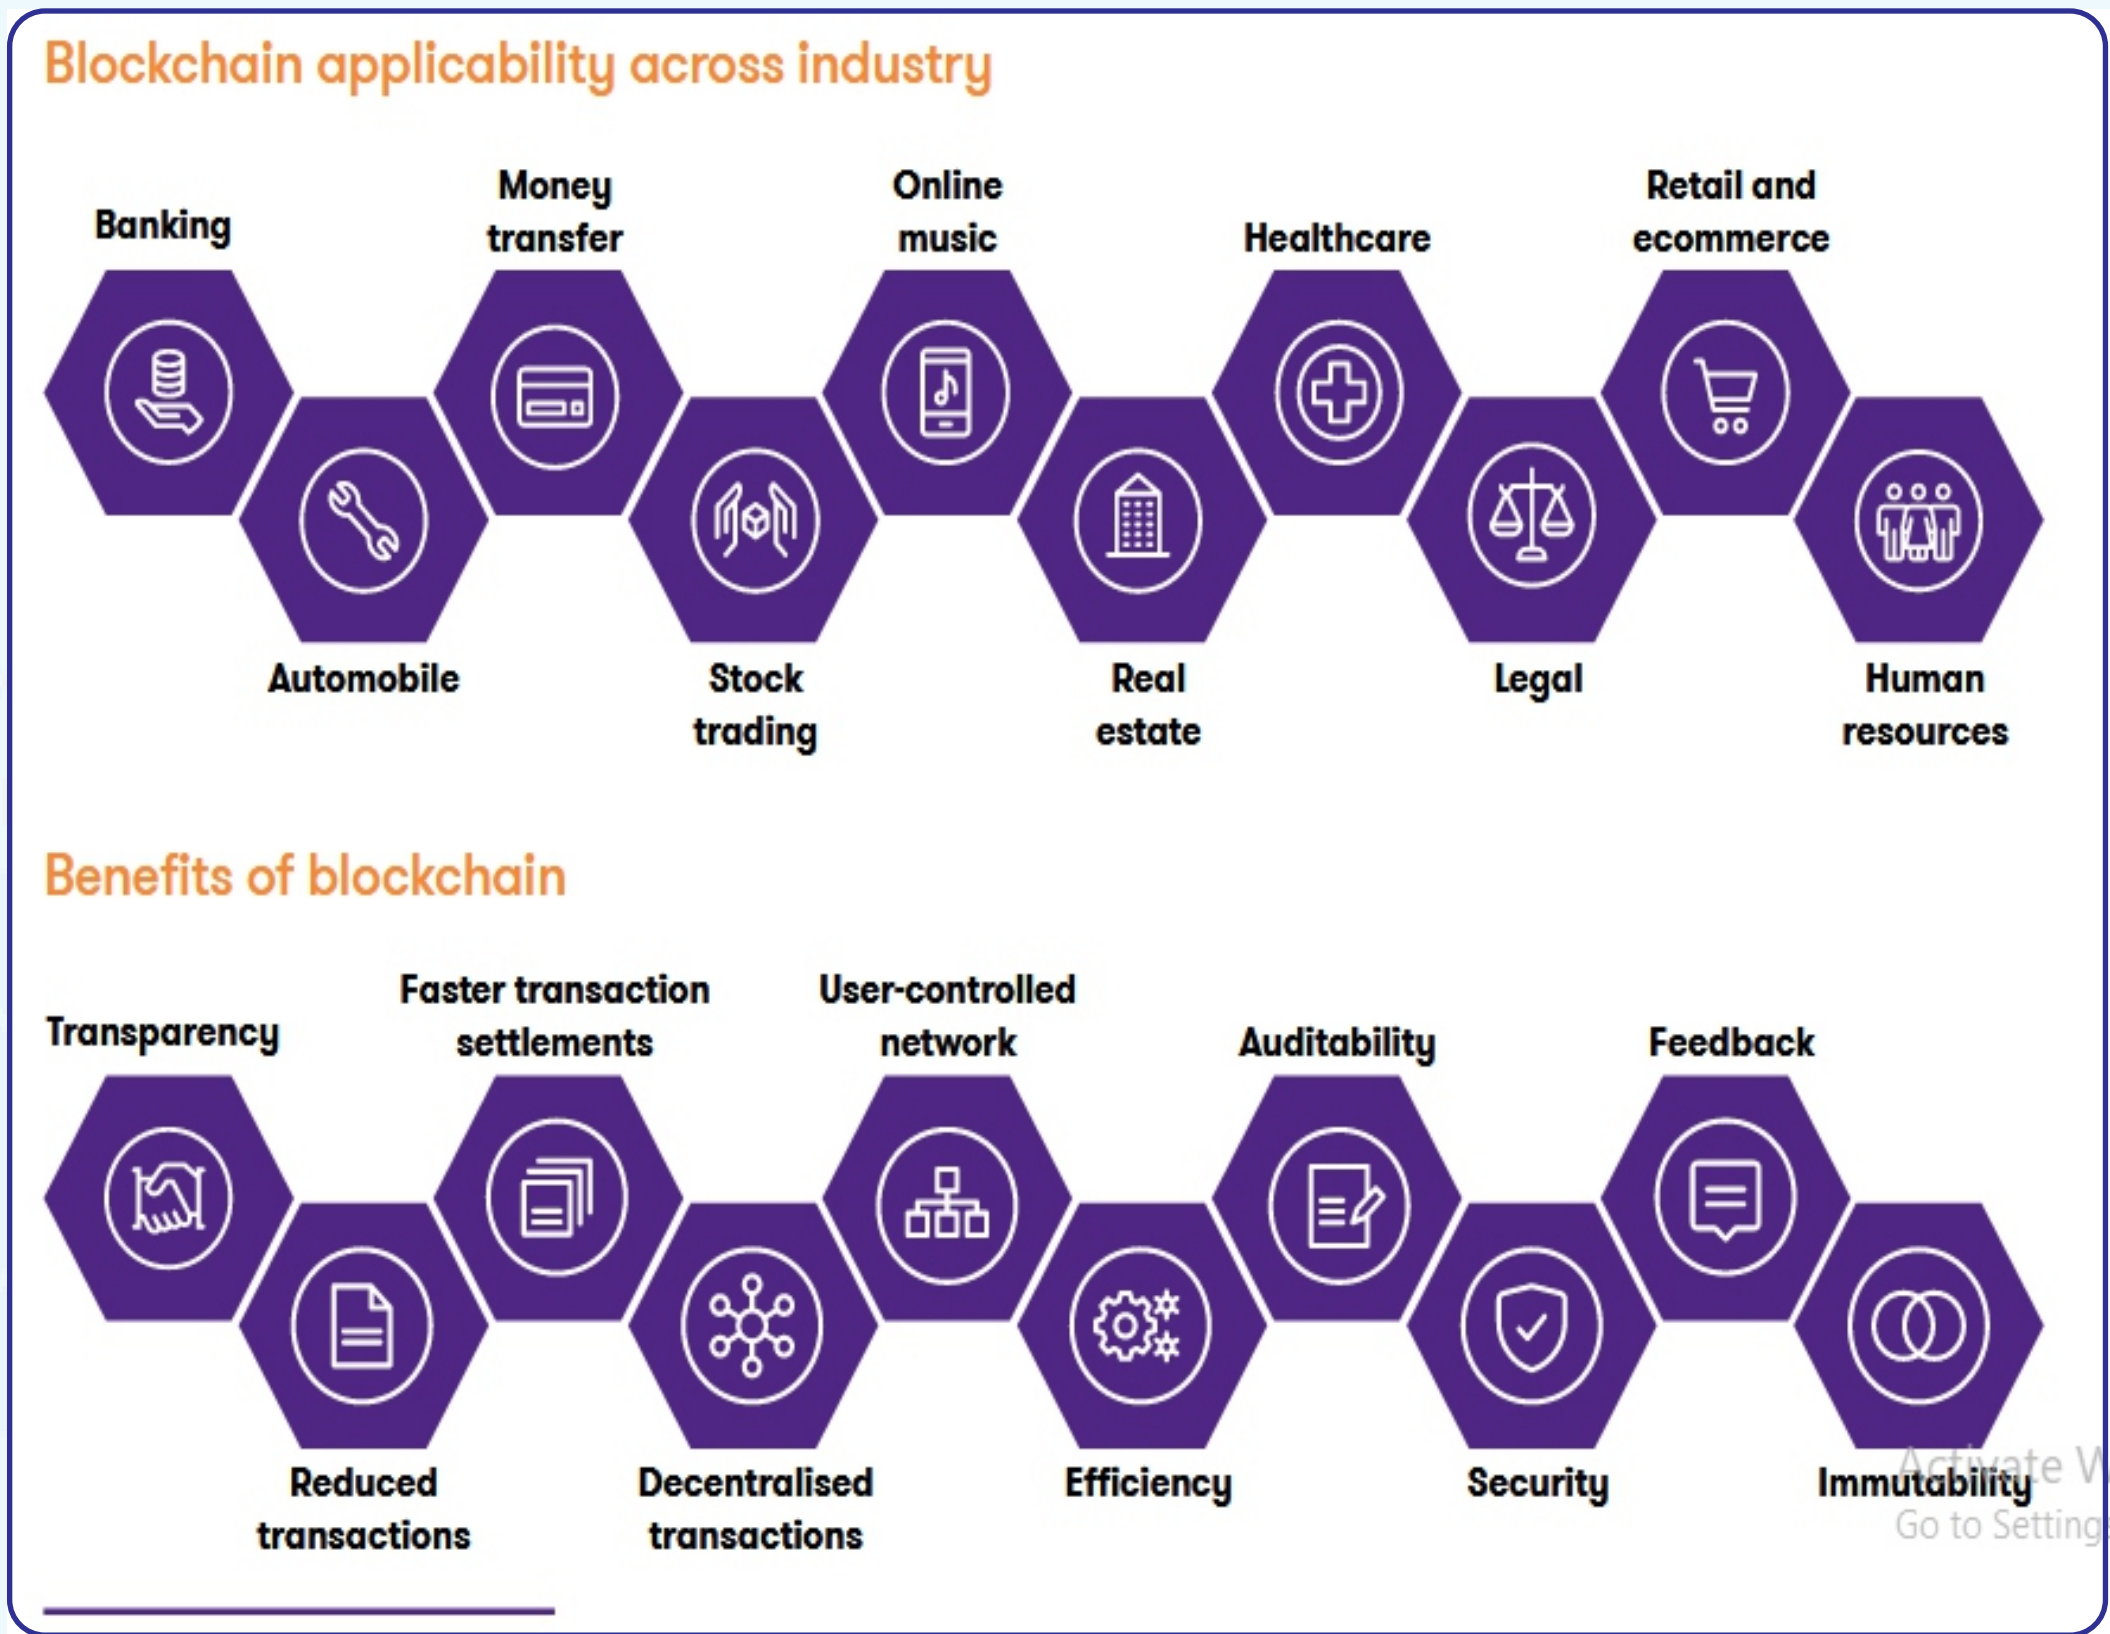

Blockchain technology is helping organizations reduce administrative overhead cost, speed up the transactional time and streamline processes.

Nigeria will not remain untouched by this wave of disruption. Institutions in various country are widely adopting blockchain technology across several industries, including banking and financial services, transportation, supply chain, as well as government verticals.
